Citizen Comment

Sharon Eckersall, 2519 Ashland spoke concerning item A18 on the agenda. She stated she lives one block from the proposed Eastwood where they are trying to make it a two-way from Central to the first alley. She stated the street is too narrow and it will remove parking spaces for the residents.

Frank Jefferis, 613 Sheridan Rd. spoke concerning the proposed Health Department inspection fees. He first apologized for the misstatements made about the inspectors demanding cash on the spot, but they were very gruff though. He's not opposed for the changes, but he stated the increase in fees will be hard on small risk vendors. He wanted to know if the City could really justify the increases in the fees and the hours spent on the inspections. He finally asked the Council to postpone the passage of these increases.

Paul Hecto, 711 Custer spoke on items A8-A10 & A20. He just thanked the Council for their consideration of the items mentioned above.

Padma Rao, 2246 Sherman began by stating her Lawyer had reviewed and approved her statements, and then spoke of her concerns for the Council's vote to condemn two dozen adult trees on the Kendall property and to endanger pedestrians with an alley that dumps traffic onto a narrow street. She mentioned the attacks on her and her mother for stating truths about the Council's actions. Stop wasting Tax dollars on your pet projects and personnel vendettas, and listen to the taxpayers if not now you will hear them at the polls.

B.K. Rao, 2246 Sherman began her comments stating they were reviewed and approved by her Attorney, and she continued to talk of the Kendall trees and the proposed alley way. She stated the attack on the Township to take it over is unacceptable and unworkable. She also stated it is an injustice to the taxpayers to take the little crumbs from the mouths of the needy and that Evanston has a problem, it is the City Council.

Sharon Eckersall, 2519 Ashland spoke of a program on channel 9 concerning a property gap bill down state. Those municipalities that have properties with decreasing property values the taxes could not be raised. As a result Evanston would be one that would be exempt. She would like for someone to find more information so that the taxpayers could be beneficiaries of the bill. In closing she mentioned the classes she has been taken to keep ahead of the changes as she continues to assist the taxpayers

Mike Vasilko, 2728 Reese Ave.
